

A close-up photograph of a black and white tortoiseshell cat named Jake. The cat is lying on an orange, textured blanket. It has large, upright ears and is looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. Its fur is predominantly black with distinct white patches, particularly around its eyes and on its chest. The background is a purple, textured surface with some white cables visible in the upper right corner.

lulu says your fortune is:

Jake,

You have the power to write your own fortune.